

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A container for television cameras of closed-circuit surveillance and monitoring systems, comprising a composite box-like body with a bottom whereon connectors for connecting cables are installed. The container further comprises a cover which conceals the connectors, preventing access thereto, is hinged to the body and can be closed onto the bottom by at least one fixing element.